CONGRESSIONAL.

Naval Officers Protest Against Congress

Thanking the Rescuers of the Greely Party.

Senator Hoar Asks Consent to Call up the Pacific Railroad Bill.

The House Dynamite Resolution Referred to a Sub-Committee--

Other News Notes.

Congressional News.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—In the senate Boaks presented a memorial from a number of naval officers protesting against the passage of the resolution giving the thanks of congress to Commander Schley and Lieutenant Emory. The memorialists say the resolution would advance gentlemen one grade and this advancement would affect all officers now standing above them. They say that while not wishing to detract from the merits of these most excellent and worthy officers, we would respectfully represent that their services in the Greely expedition were not of a character which entitled them to such marked distinction and advantage over other comrades.

Hoar, from the committee on judiciary, referred favorably to the resolution providing for the two houses of congress to assemble in the hall of the house on February 11th to count the electoral vote.

Mr. Hoar asked unanimous consent to call up the Pacific railroad bill. He said it was an extremely important bill. It undertook to deal with vast government property or indebtedness to the government, and undertook to remove from further discussion a great many complicated questions. The bill was one that excited a good deal of interest in the country.

Hoar supposed he was not saying anything that would be disputed when he said it had created large interest among stock brokers. The newspapers were full of charges and counter charges regarding it, and while he would make no charge against the press of the country as a body, some of the statements were of course inspired by the interests of speculative dealers in stocks. The bill, Hoar added, had not been stimulated or instigated by any railroad company, but was the result of the original investigation of the senate judiciary committee, which had looked very carefully into the whole subject.

HOUSE.

The house was called to order by the clerk, who read a communication from the secretary of the navy in response to the house resolution calling for information concerning the recent collision of the Tallapoosa. Referred to the secretary of state.

The house committee on foreign affairs referred the dynamite resolution to a sub committee. The opinion is generally expressed that no action should be taken on the subject by the house. The house then went into a committee of a whole, Mr. Hatch of Missouri in the chair, on private calendar.

CONGO AFFAIRS.

In response to the house resolution calling for information respecting the United States in the Congo conference, the president to-day sent the house a report submitted by the secretary of state to the president.

The secretary says some time must elapse before the full accumulatory history of the transaction can be laid before congress, but in view of the general interest taken in the subject, he submits a preliminary report, leaving the transmission of papers to follow. He then gives in detail the causes and motives of the participation of this government in the Berlin conference, all of which is well known to the public. "It being established," the report proceeds, "that the conference was not to have plenipotentiary functions; no special credentials were needed to enable Kasson to attend as a delegate of this government, he being already accredited as a minister to the imperial court. The instruction sent Mr. Kasson was brief, but precise as to exclusive questions of territorial jurisdiction. By direction of the president Mr. Henry Sanford, whose relations to the international congress, representing the free states of Congo seemed to fit him for the work; was appointed associate delegate on behalf of the United States. The course to be governed by the instructions was sent to Kasson, Sanford not being an officer of this government, was accredited by a letter addressed by the undersigned to the minister of foreign affairs of Germany, as associate delegate. The resolutions of the house call for the text of the oral or powers given the representatives of the United States, and a letter accrediting Sanford will be transmitted with the rest of the correspondence at an early day. It was however, here mentioned that it confers no definite powers on him. The latest dispatches received from Kasson by Secretary Frelinghuysen says, bringing the proceedings to December 15, on which day the conference adjourned until January 3, up to that time the department of state has seen no reason to feel otherwise than satisfied with the discretion, prudence and ability with which Kasson has carried out the instructions given him, besides limiting the position of the United States to one of commercial interest dissociated from questions of territorial control. He has been attentive and no act on our part shall deviate from consistent national policy. "OUT-CALLING."

This afternoon, members of a national board of trade went into a body to the white house to call upon the president. They were received in the library and Frederick A. Conkling, of New York, presented Mr. Fraley, president of the board, to President Arthur. Mr. Fraley, addressing the president, said:

"We had the pleasure of paying our respects to you as members of the national board of trade, at the incoming of your administration. We expressed then our extreme gratification that the reigns of the government had fallen upon one who was so well qualified to discharge the duties of the office in a manner creditable to himself with honor to the country. You have gone through the ordeal of an administration characterized by peaceful incidents, the general prosperity of the country and to the great satisfaction all its citizens while the public affairs were in your charge. We come now, at the close of your administration, to present our respects to you, and to wish that the remainder of your days may be attended by the blessings of which you are entitled. I assure you that the national board of trade, having seen you pass through this administration with so much honor, faithfulness and justice to all the interests of the country, are gratified at the results you have accomplished and express the greatest regard for your future welfare."

In reply the president said: "I thank you most heartily for your kind words. I am deeply affected by them, nothing could be more gratifying to me than to feel that I have your kind regard and that I have respect for my old neighbors and friends, many of whom I see among you."

The members of the board were then presented to the president by the secretary of the board.

NOTES.

Secretary Chandler to-day telegraphed instructions for the United States steamer "Wachusett," of the Pacific squadron, to proceed to Guayaquil, Ecuador, for the protection of Julian R. Santos, a neutralized American citizen, imprisoned there for alleged complicity in the rebellion and whose speedy execution is apprehended.

It is estimated at the treasury department that there will be a decrease over $5,000,000,000 in the public debt for the present month.

The civil service commission are considering propositions to include in the classification employees coming within the provisions of the civil service act, all government employees enumerated in the laws relating to civil service, except officers nominated by the president and confirmed by the senate, and employees below $90. The grade of such classification would include the chiefs of divisions and assistant chiefs and a number of special department officers who are not subject to confirmation by the senate.

The committee on selecting grand marshals for the inauguration ceremonies will probably select General Don Carlos Buell. In the event General McClellan declines. General Buell lived in this city for many years prior to 1861 and is well known to all old citizens.

Senator Harrison presented a memorial from the legislature of Indiana to the senate to-day urging the passage of the bill to pension prisoners confined in Confederate prisons during the late war.

The Silver Convention.

DENVER, Col., January 29.—The National Silver convention reassembled at 1 o'clock. The temporary chairman read the following telegram from Hon. Henry M. Teller, secretary of the interior:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 29, 1885. Chairman of the Silver Convention: "I desire through you to assure the convention over which you preside that I am in full sympathy with every effort to secure to silver all the advantages conferred by the law on gold. I do not believe the silver will take its just rank as a money metal in the commercial markets of the world until its money functions shall be recognized by the law giving the holders of silver bullion every privilege given to the holders of gold bullion. To this end I pledge my untiring efforts."

H. M. TELLER.

The reading of the telegram was followed by tremendous cheering, lasting some minutes. The balance of the morning session was consumed in debating that part of the report of the committee on credentials fixing the standard of representation. The convention thus far is a stormy one.

Who Cunningham Is.

St. Louis, January 29.—The Post-Dispatch this evening printed an article based on the statement of a local dynamiter, name not given, that Cunningham, now under arrest in London in connection with the explosion at the tower, was formerly a harness maker living here, under the name of McLea J. Byrne. He also lived in Chicago as James Gilbert and Philadelphia as James Cunningham. The last known of him was last August, when he was in Denver.

A KUKLUX HUNG.

A Leader of the Order of Southern Brotherhood Executed for a Murder.

A Notorious Burglar Released in Canada With $100,000 American Bonds in His Pocket.

The Colored Bishop Exonerated in Philadelphia of the Charge of Perjury.

A Ku-Klux Leader Hung.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 30.—At Corning, Clay county, to-day, Lafayette Milton, a white man, aged twenty-three, was hanged for murdering Franklin Hall four years ago. It was proved on trial that Milton was captain of the order of Southern Brotherhood, known as "Kuklux." Hall had been talking about them and the plot was formed to whip him. A masked party found Hall in the woods at night and whipped him to death. Milton was convicted chiefly on the evidence of H. S. Lawrence, one of the party, but who a year after turned states evidence.

Burned at the Stake.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30.—A negro was burned at the stake at Santa Cruz this morning, dying in horrible agony. His screams were terrible. It is impossible to learn just now the reason for the incineration.

Hit High Again.

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—John L. Sullivan was fined $115 in the municipal court this morning for fast driving and unnecessary cruelty in beating animals.

A Man of Many Words.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 30.—Governor Hamilton's message was sent to the senate this morning. It was a very lengthy document.

Cleveland and Randall in Consultation.

ALBANY, January 29.—What appeared to be a sensational paragraph printed in the Journal this evening was to the effect that President-elect Cleveland was visited late last night by ex-Speaker Randall, in response to a letter of invitation sent to him. Immediately after his arrival here all were driven to Mr. Cleveland's temporary abode, where the two met in conference, lasting several hours. This morning the talk was resumed and after its conclusion, Mr. Randall returned to New York. Speaker Carlisle is named as having been invited by Mr. Cleveland and is expected to arrive Saturday morning. Col. D. S. Lamont, private secretary of the president-elect, corroborated the statement that Randall was here and in consultation with Cleveland, and that Carlisle is expected, but beyond that was extremely reticent. Rumor has it that the president elect is not satisfied with the way things are going on in congress and wants Messrs. Randall and Carlisle to adopt some vigorous policy. Of course nobody has the smallest particle of information as to what took place between Cleveland and Randall, but it is the general belief that nothing in the line of cabinet appointments was mentioned.

Incendiary Strikers.

NEW SPRATTSVILLE, January 29.—Mine number 35, better known as Plumer hill, was fired by incendiaries early this morning and fire is issuing from all the openings. The mine is valued at $200,000. There are little hopes of extinguishing it. It is also understood that it was in the plan to fire mine number 3, which is expected to be done to-night. A large number of old miners are going to work, which it is supposed has aroused the lawless element to the deed of last night.

The joint legislature committee to investigate the causes of the strike in the valley left for a trip to the mines and surrounding and it is thought their arrival will have a tendency to prejudice the case of the miners.

Western Railroads.

BOSTON, Mass., January 29.—Elijah Smith, president of the Oregon Transcontinental road, was seen to-day in relation to published statements that the road had a large and losing interest in the Oregon & California system. The only interest, said Smith, that the Oregon Transcontinental company has in the Oregon & California is this: We are creditors to the amount of $145,000, due January 1st, but not paid. If the Oregon & California had paid that, we would have delivered to them $2,200,000 of their second mortgage bonds, which we own. As it is, the Oregon Transcontinental still holds bonds, and is secured against loss.

A Virginia Bank Teller on Trial.

PETERSBURG, Va., January 29.—The jury in the case of the commonwealth against W. W. Whyte, late teller of the Planters and Mechanics bank, on trial in Hustings' court for making three felonious entries on the teller's book in favor of R. A. Young, for $69,000, this afternoon reported their inability to agree and was discharged. Whyte was released on bail.

An Important Ejectment Suit.

PITTSBURG, January 29.—James Donahue, of this city, has retained counsel for the purpose of entering suits of ejectment against property owners in Detroit for 800 acres of property located in the heart of the city, and said to be valued at $50,000,000.

Business Troubles.

CINCINNATI, January 29.—L. E. Matthews & Co., jobbers of brass and cornice goods, No. 178 Elm street, assigned this afternoon to Jas. H. Davall. The assets are $10,000. The liabilities are estimated at $4,000.

Columbus & Xenia Railroad Directors.

COLUMBUS, January 29.—The stockholders of the Columbus & Xenia railroad company to-day elected the following directors: John W. Andrews, Henry C. Noble, P. W. Huntington, R. A. Harrison, Robert S. Smith, Geo. M. Parsons, Alfred Thomas, William B. Hayden, Henry Hanna, Thomas D. Messler, and James Andrews.

Forty Lives Lost.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—A dispatch this afternoon from Sidney, New South Wales, states that an express train between Sidney and Wagga-Wagga, while running at a high rate of speed, was precipitated into a creek by a weakness of a bridge upon which the train had entered and four passengers were killed.

Scalded to Death.

ALBANY, Jan. 30.—James Sampson was repairing the interior of one of three boilers when the fireman turned on the steam. Supposing it was cut off from the one in question, Sampson was horribly scalded, and died in an hour.

Horrible Mutilation.

NEW YORK, January 29.—The Swedish brig Natal arrived at this port to-day. Her captain, Peter J. Eastrom, tells a terrible story of mutiny and murder on the high seas. The Natal left Boston for Brisbane, Australia, on July 29, 1883, with a crew of eight men. The first mate was named Sylvanius, and the second mate was the captain's son, 19 years old. At 1 o'clock on the morning of November 17, the captain was lying asleep on a lounge in his outer cabin, having abandoned his berth on account of the hot weather. He lay in his shirt and trousers, with his face to the wall, when the carpenter and steward stole in, each carrying an ax. The carpenter lifted his ax above his head and dealt a blow at the sleeping captain's neck. He missed his aim, but the blow shattered the jaw bone, and cut the side of the captain's head, but did not kill him. The captain awoke, half-stunned, in time to see the second blow descending toward his temple. He held up his arm in time to break the blow, and thus saved his life. The ax had fell full upon the temple, broke the frontal bone, but had not sufficient force to penetrate the skull. The ax had fallen from the handle and the carpenter clutched the captain around the neck, yelling to the steward to kill him with the ax which he held. The steward endeavored to do so, but the captain, now full awake, snatched the ax from him, dropped it on the floor, and turned to struggle with the carpenter, who was stabbing him with a sheath-knife. After being out in five places he succeeded in getting the knife away from him. The carpenter and steward ran out on deck just as the first mate entered, attracted by the noise. The captain barred the door, bound up his wounds with Sylvanius' aid, and the two secured rifles and revolvers. They went out on deck together, and after a bloody fight drove the men into the forward hatch. The captain's son had been killed before the attack on his father, and his body had been thrown overboard. For four days the captain and mate worked the vessel with the assistance of one man who had surrendered. At the end of that time he lifted the hatch, ordered the men up, stood them in line, and shot two of them dead—the carpenter and a seaman who had been the ringleader. The others were turned over to the authorities at Brisbane.

The ringleader, who was shot, was formerly a mate in the coasting trade, understood navigation and joined the bark at Boston for the purpose of securing the ship and cargo. The mate Sylvanius was shot in the eye and otherwise injured, and when last heard of was still in the hospital at Brisbane.

Ice Boats Missing With Twenty-two Souls on Board.

HALIFAX, January 29.—Three ice boats with the mails, a crew of fifteen and seven passengers left Cape Traverse, P. E. I., at 1 a. m. yesterday, since which time no tidings of them has been heard at Cape Tormentine, N. B. Their missing is almost unexplainable. A snow storm prevailed all day and land marks are not visible. It is hoped that they landed somewhere on the Nova Scotian shore as to remain out in last nights weather would lead them to their death.

Dr. McIntyre, M. P., is one of the passengers.

TWO MORE DEAD.

Five Members of the Family So Strangely Poisoned Dead and the Others Dying.

A Sensational Report About the Missing Managing Editor of Harpers Weekly.

A Report that the British Museum is to be Blown Up With Dynamite.

The Description Don't Suit.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Nothing is yet learned of the whereabouts of S. S. Conant, managing editor of Harper's Weekly. The assistant editor of that periodical to-day received a letter from the chief physician of the Pennsylvania state asylum for the insane saying that late Tuesday night last a man applied for admission to the asylum and said two Russians were pursuing him and that he was a newspaper man. In height he was five feet, eight inches, but in no other respect did he resemble Conant. Pinkerton's detectives are no longer working on the case.

The Fire Record.

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 30.—Fire at an early hour this morning destroyed all the leading business houses of Wellsburg, at a total loss of $20,000 above insurance.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Jan. 30.—A planing mill belonging to Abair, Skidmore & Co., and the skewer factory of R. W. Irish & Son, in the same building, were destroyed by fire this morning. Loss, $15,000; insurance, $7,000.

His Integrity Vouched For.

ROCHESTER, Jan. 30.—Capt. John McCafferty, charged with causing the Loudon explosion, is well known here. The Albany Union to-day publishes an article in which Major James P. Cleary, Major Daniel A. Sharp and Capt. D. C. Feely, vouch for McCafferty's integrity and nobility of character. McCafferty has relatives here.

Weekly Record.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The failures for the last seven days are reported by R. G. Dunn & Co.: The number for the United States is 317; Canada, 37. Total, 354, as compared with 411 last week and 420 the week previous. There is a decrease in every section of the country, though failures in the west and south are still very numerous.

Rescue Impossible.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 30.—On receipt of the news of the missing Prince Edward Island mail boats, the minister of marine ordered the steamer "Northern Light" to go at once in search of them. A telegram was received to the effect that owing to the ice in the straits the steamer was unable to leave the harbor.

Pretty Well Healed.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 30.—This morning Jones, alias Jimmy Carroll, the notorious American burglar who was sentenced some years ago to the penitentiary for robbery, was released and departed for Montreal. Before he left here, it is said he exhibited American bonds to the value of $100,000.

More Dynamites Arrested.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—It was reported late this afternoon that the Scotland Yard authorities had arrested a dynamiter at his lodgings in Westminster district and found an infernal machine concealed in his room.

Exonerated.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—The colored bishop, Jabez Pitt Campbell, arrested several weeks ago upon a charge of perjury in swearing in an affidavit that he was executor of the estate of the late Moses Young, was discharged after a hearing to-day.

Keeping John Bull Brightened.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Harcourt, home secretary, has received information that dynamites have threatened to blow up the British museum and extra precautions are taken to protect the building.

Two More Dead.

READING, Pa., Jan. 30.—Two more members of the Krull family who were mysteriously poisoned at Bunker Hill, have died and the remaining three are considered beyond recovery.

The Reports of a Battle.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 30.—Reports reached here that a serious engagement occurred between the French and Chinese men of war off Malson, but no details were received.

Now Changing a Little.

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 30.—Four ballots for senator to-day showed a change of 5 votes to Jones who received 48; Dunn, 41; Berry, 36.

THE CITY.

The Grand Rapids railroad company is storing thousands of tons of ice at Rome City.

A song has been composed about the recent strike and trainboys sell it to the brake twisters.

Patrons of the Catholic Library will hereafter have to pay $1 a year for the privilege of using books.

The Pennsylvania railroad company now deposits its Fort Wayne money in the New Old National Bank.

The justices of the peace are doing nothing and the constables cannot earn enough to buy bread.

George Pontius, of Meyer Brothers, goes to Columbia City to-day to take charge of his new drug store.

This weather is productive of sleighing parties. The Clay school pupils went to New Haven last night.

Charles MacDougal recently bid $650 for a horse at Chicago. The animal had a record and could pace in 2:22.

Fred Lampert, of Montana, is in the city. Fred is an old Fort Wayne boy, who has big mining interests out west.

Mr. Charles E. Graves has a desk at the office of P. A. Lynn, agent for the Pennsylvania company's last freight lines.

Chief of Police Deihl has a gold watch in his possession, the property of "J. Wall." The owner can reclaim it by proving property.

Isaac Laufferty, the steamship agent, received notice that tickets across the ocean might be had for $10, and tickets to Fort Wayne might be had for a dollar.

O. L. Perry now does the roller skating act and whirls about with the grace of an old timer, although he is new to the business. Mr. Perry is great in everything.

A frame office, for the use of Col. George H. Humphrey and his clerk, Will Tyler, is being erected on the rear of the government lot at the corner of Clinton and Berry streets.

Ernest Shuman is sitting up the second floor of his main street building for skating rink purposes. The room may be devoted to beginners and Eagan Smith will instruct in the art.

Paymaster Shepperd, of the Wabash, does not carry money on all the divisions of the Wabash, for fear of robbery. He pays in checks at many points where banks are not accessible.

Last evening Innes, the solo trombone player, was given a reception by members of the Reineke orchestra and the City band. Mr. Innes paid the band and orchestra the highest compliments.

Rabbi Israel Aaron will give another of his Friday evening lectures at the Temple this evening at 7 p. m. The doctor speaks in English and his discourses have great interest for all classes. Seats are free.

Last evening John H. Archer and Euvalee Beale were married at the bride's residence on Lavina street, by Rev. A. W. Lamport. The occasion was one of much happiness. The presents were numerous and elegant.

Judge McBride, of Albion, is to enforce the law against public profanity. Judge McBride, it will be remembered, presided here at the trial of the Aldrich-Godfrey land case until the question grew very intricate. He then refused to further act.

Jesse Fogle, the fleshy man who lived near LaOtto, recently died of suffocation. His actual weight, as given by himself a few days before he died, was 370 pounds.

Dr. W. H. Meyers, of this city, was called to see Fogle, but flesh accumulated too rapidly to effect the young man's relief.

The indications for the lower lake region as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to the Sentinel are as follows: Local snows, turning into rain; warmer weather; westerly winds in western portion, shifting to southeasterly; southerly winds in eastern portion, shifting to easterly.

Next Tuesday is "Ground Hog Day." We shall then know whether we are to have six weeks more of winter or not. The ground hog knows. If he comes out and sees his shadow, we are in for it. If he doesn't see his shadow, then we are to know that the backbone of winter is broken and can soon expect to hear the blue birds singing in the branches as happy as the day is long.

Mrs. Rosetta Wiler, who won her suit against the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company, is now residing at Toledo with her parents. Her husband's policy was for $5,000, but the costs in the case will make the amount $7,000 for the insurance company. The insurance company contested the payment of the policy because Solomon Wiler said in the policy he had eight brothers, when in fact he had but seven. The case first came before Judge O'Rourke and his verdict was finally sanctioned by the supreme court.

THE CITY.

The floor of the Academy of Music skating rink was completed to-day.

Mrs. Frank Falker and Miss Josephine Albert have returned from a visit to relatives and friends at Cleveland and Delphos.

The calico masquerade at Shuman's rink last night was a great success and many unique uniforms were on the floor. The grand march was the prettiest of the season. Anson Tomlinson and Miss Alice Deihl led the party.

The Warsaw National Union says: A letter from Fort Wayne to the editor of this paper says that among the Fort Wayne soldiers who will attend the camp fire in this city, on February 3d, and partake of "hard tack and commissary" with the boys, will be Lieutenant Tom Sullivan, ex-post commander; Sergeant James E. Graham, post commander; Simeon S. Bass Post; Captain Allen H. Dougal, post commander; Anthony Young Post, Sergeant Jack Kessell; Sergeant J. B. Fleming, Colonel J. W. Young, Colonel George Humphrey. We understand that a large delegation of old soldiers from Fort Wayne will be present on the occasion.

Yesterday a mysterious box was deposited in the Pittsburg baggage room, and as a rumbling noise emanated from it, visions of a dynamite explosion flashed across George Gordon's mind. He investigated boldly and with Cy Fike for a background, put his hand into the box. He didn't withdraw the member immediately, simply because a ground hog was holding a reception at the other end. Mr. Gordon finally got away from its grip, and close inspection convinced him the "pet" was for Dan Benelleimer, of DeWald street. The earth hog was captured by Tobias Long, of Lima. Mr. Gordon will exhibit the vicious creature and his bandaged finger at the approaching poultry show.

Wedding bells at Warsaw.

Cards were received in this city this morning announcing the marriage of Charles E. Wahl, a prominent druggist of Warsaw to Miss Mary E. Leighton, a young lady quite well known here. The ceremony was solemnized last Wednesday. The Warsaw Times says of the pleasant event: "The wedding took place at the residence of the bride's father, in this city, last evening, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Father Weichman, well and favorably known to the people of this place. The wedding was a private one, but few persons being present outside the immediate family, and they only of the most intimate character. We extend to Mr. Wahl and his beautiful bride the heartiest and sincerest wishes for their future happiness and prosperity. Both enjoy to a very great degree the respect and esteem of the people of this place and all, we feel sure, will join with us in the congratulations and God-speeds usual on such occasions." Mr. and Mrs. Wahl will be "at home" after February 10.

LAI D TO REST.

The Remains of the Reverend Monsignor Benoit Now in Sacred Ground--

Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger's Eulogy on the Dead Private.

Long before the hour appointed for the service the great cathedral of the Immaculate Conception was crowded to its utmost capacity. Chairs were placed in all the aisles and standing room could not be had. Fully 3,000 people were in the sacred edifice when the clergy at 9 o'clock began to chant the solemn office of the dead. Candles burned amid the drapery of the altar and the dead Monsignor lay in the center of the church. For an hour the office of the dead was chanted. This service was in Latin, the language of the church, and consists of prayers for the repose of the soul of the sainted priest.

At 10 o'clock began requiem high mass. The assembled clergy formed a semi-circle in front of the main altar. The celebrant of mass, Rt. Rev. Bishop Rademacher, of the see of Nashville, entered the church from the sanctuary to the right, regaled in the robes of his high and sacred office. The assistant priest, Rev. A. B. Oechtering, of Mishawaka, the deacon, Rev. J. Blackman, of Delphi, the sub-deacon, Rev. H. A. Boeckelman, and masters of ceremonies, Revs. J. H. Branner and John F. Lang assumed their positions before the altar, and the grand solemnities began according to the impressive methods of the church of Rome.

In the midst of the mass Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger ascended the pulpit. It was to pronounce the eulogy on the beloved Monsignor Benoit, and eyes were moistened with tears in anticipation of the last sad words. The bishop took his text from the ninth chapter of the first book of the Maccabees, relating to sorrow for the dead. He said a great sorrow and grief was upon the people to-day, because they assembled to pay their last respects to the grand, noble priest, apostolic man, who for forty-five years had walked in the way of the righteous and zealously did holy work that his fellow men might grow in grace and favor in the sight of almighty God.

His missionary life was a beautiful example, for one could recall every year, every day, every hour and scrutiny would but make it resplendent, great, good and true. "Bidding farewell," said the bishop, "to parents, home and country to serve God in a strange land, how cheerful did he endure the hardships of pioneer life, how calmly did he bear its privations, and yet how willing he was to attend the sick, to soothe their ailments and guide them to that bourn beyond this life." "We have reason to mourn," said he, "the loss of a dear old pastor—a father to all, and a man must be a stranger who does not know our sorrow and grieve with us."

The bishop then related the story of Father Benoit's life; told of his saintly mother whom the venerable prelate used to say he never disobeyed; whose prayers and holy example led him into the priesthood. Many nice incidents of the dead prelate's life were pictured in words and the speaker said the growth of the Catholic church in the northwest was due to the efforts of Father Benoit more than any other man. "But the lips that have so often spoken kindly the truth, are now cold in death; the hands that so generously gave to the poor, are now cold in death, and the saintly face we all loved so dear, is pale in death." Charity was his predominant virtue, and Almighty God had called his servant home to wear the crown of glory he so richly merited.

The bishop's reference to the last hours of the dead Monsignor were very affecting, and the speaker, with his hearers, was moved to tears. "On the death of Rt. Rev. Bishop Leurs," said the speaker, "Father Benoit's name was proposed for the holy office but he wrote the pope declining the sacred trust. God ordained me in his place, and a vow I made was to make the last years of my fatherly friend peaceful, happy and comfortable. I have strived to keep my word and beneath the marble slab will we lay the remains of the holy priest we love so well. He will be a father to the people of Fort Wayne in heaven, where his prayers to God for charity for us will be offered with the fervor that characterized them here below."

At the conclusion of mass Monsignor Benoit's body was lowered into the vault and sored is the earth that surrounds it. A marble slab in the floor of the church marks the holy spot beneath.

The prominent prelates present at the funeral were: Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger, orator of the day; Rt. Rev. Bishop Richter, of Grand Rapids; Monsignor Resconica, V. G., of Indianapolis; Very Rev. E. Soria, Superior General of the Order of the Holy Cross, of Notre Dame; Very Rev. A. Shideler, V. G., of Indianapolis; Very Rev. C. J. Roche, V. G., Grand Rapids, and forty-five clergymen of the diocese.

A NICE TRIBUTE.

The following tribute is from Hon. Isaac Jonkinson of Richmond, a former citizen of Fort Wayne and editor of the Gazette:

The death of Father Benoit, of Fort

Wayne, is a heavy affliction to the church of that place. Rarely has a priest occupied relations to his people more truly paternal than were his. Being a man of marked ability, of great enterprise and energy, of warm sympathies and fine social accomplishments and having spent the greater part of a long life in building up and caring for the church in that place—accessible always to the poor in their troubles—he had so ingratiated himself with his flock that they gave him their very greatest affection and admiration. He was a man of large mould, mentally, and compassed of all the features of his varied work with an easy and masterly grasp. A young French girl, speaking of the music in the cathedral, which was always fine, said to the writer, "But there is no one who sings like Father Benoit! He is nearly seventy, but no one has so rich and sweet a voice, no other sings so grandly." And some "Canadiennes" long resident there, said to their visitor, "If only you had come a little sooner! Father Benoit has just been here and talking so charmingly. There is no entertainer like Father Benoit!" And so through the whole list of his clerical and pastoral duties, to his people he shone as an unapproachable star. In scholarly attainments, in suavity of manner, in executive force and the power of leading his flock, in impressiveness as a preacher, and enviable social relations with the world, he saw few superiors.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Best Concert.

The City band concert attained the success it so well merited at last evening's entertainment. From pit to dome every seat was occupied and many were obliged to stand. It is a pleasure to note that the people of Fort Wayne appreciate home talent in so hearty a manner. The City band and Beineke's orchestra are organizations which do credit to the city. Their renditions last night attest this fact beyond dispute. The Haydn quartet is so well known that commendations now would only be adding honors where honors have long been given. Miss Clara Kenower was especially pleasing. Prof. O. A. Schmidt and S. H. Burdett in their respective parts really entranced the audience. Prof. Frederick Innes, the trombone soloist, was a revelation to the audience, inasmuch as he demonstrated that solo music could be produced from an instrument generally considered unamused of itself. The affair was a financial success.

THE HEGGAR STUDENT.

Thompson's Opera company will appear in Mellooker's "Heggar Student," at the Temple to-morrow evening. The plot, unlike that of many operas, is succinct and connected from first to last. The company is already a favorite in Fort Wayne and the Temple will be crowded.

BY THE LIGHT OF THE MOON.

Harrison and Gourley, in the laughing rage "Skipped by the light of the moon," appear at the Temple next Wednesday evening. They are too popular here to need any laudatory mention.

The Huntington Tragedy.

A special dispatch from Huntington to THE SENTINEL this morning states that the horse and sleigh stolen by the parties who made the murderous assault on Marshal Baumgartner, were left near Sheldon Tuesday morning and were found Tuesday evening. The dead thief is recognized as one Wm. Newgond who lived in Huntington county about twenty years ago. The officers have clues which they are positive will lead to the ultimate capture of the men. Marshal Baumgartner is reported as being considerably better and strong hopes are now entertained of his recovery.

James P. Ross & Sons, at 25 West Columbia street, will have at this evening's and to-morrow's trade an excellent lot of choice dressed poultry, fresh butter and eggs. They have the cleanest butcher shop in the city.

QUITE BRILLIANT.

The Krauskaupf-Glutting Nuptials Described by Our Washington Correspondent.

Mr. P. H. Pernot, the Washington correspondent of THE SENTINEL, sends the following interesting account of the marriage of Miss Katie, daughter of Henry Krauskaupf, of the United States department and former citizen of Fort Wayne, to Mr. A. F. Glutting, a prominent business man of this city: Washington, Jan. 28, 1886.

An event occurred in this city Tuesday morning last of more than passing interest to the people of Fort Wayne, viz.: the marriage of Miss Katie A. Krauskaupf, of Washington, to Mr. A. F. Glutting, of Fort Wayne. The nuptials were celebrated at St. Patrick's church, Rev. Father Walters officiating. Appreciating the solemnity as well as the joyousness of the occasion, the relatives and intimate friends of the high contracting parties, including S. E. Morse, of the Chicago Times, formerly of the Fort Wayne SENTINEL, were invited to the sacred edifice. As the bridal party entered the church the joyous notes of the wedding march pealed forth from the grand old organ. The bride was attired in an elegant garnet velvet dress with garnet and pearl ornaments and hat to correspond. Congratulatory telegrams from Fort Wayne and other points in Indiana poured in all day. The happy couple left the city immediately for New York, where they will make a short visit, going thence by way of Cincinnati to Fort Wayne. The Indians at the capital unite in bespeaking for them a happy and prosperous journey adown life's stream.
